FANWOOD

A very impressive morning Chapel Service was held on Wednesday, November 11th. After the presentation of the Colors and the pledge to the flag, Superintendent Skyberg began the first of what may be known as Award Assemblies.

Morton Schlissel was presented with a medal in token of his earning the Clark Camp Best Camper Cup. The cup will remain the possession of the School, with annual engravings being made of the name of the boy who wins the award.

Stanley Hoffman received the distinguished honor of earning the first Service stripe among the younger pupils.

The merit awards for the months of September and October were as follows:

First prize—L. Pagnatta, K. Rollcock, P. Saviano.

Second prize—H. Schneider.

Third prize—L. Dudley, J. Hughes, A. Mangone, A. Vogini.

Cadet Carl Lindfors was the recipient of a $2.00 cash award from his father for the design on the Fanwood Journal cover last month.

The assembly was dismissed after instructions were given for the gathering outdoors of the student body for the blowing of Taps to commemorate Armistice Day.

The Provisional Company and Band were the guests of the New York Yankee Football Club on Sunday, November 15th. Led by police cars the Band provided inspiring music as the Cadets marched from the School to the Yankee Stadium. While 16,000 enthusiastic fans awaited the start of the game, they were entertained by our Cadets. With the Band blaring forth in its usually triumphant manner, the Provisional Company followed behind as they encircled the field. As the gathering sat breathless, the now traditionally famous Silent Drill was executed. The audience accepted our Cadets from the beginning and every military tactic was received with a volley of applause that echoed in praise throughout the world-celebrated sports field. The climax was reached as the Cadets began their Setting-Up Drill. At the close of their exhibition, the roar of the crowd conveyed a message to our Cadets that was deeply significant. The Band came in for its share of glory. A microphone was lowered and our Band asked to play a selection in order that it might be broadcast over Station WINS to the radio listeners. Then followed the football game that saw our local favorites bow to the Boston Shamrocks 7-12.

CUB PACK 14

Our Cub Pack 14, one of 34 newly formed boy scout troops and cub packs of Manhattan, was recently invited to the assembly held on the terrace of Bloomingdale's store. Cubmaster Greenberg, with Cubs Hansen, Ockers, Pfeffer and Zinkow representing our Pack were honored with the presentation of a pack flag by President Schaap of Bloomingdale's and Captain Beard, Scout executive of the Manhattan council. In honor of the new groups and also in connection with the fiftieth anniversary of dedication of the Statue of Liberty, Boy Scouts stationed at strategic points on roofs of tall buildings relayed a message from the statue to the last scout at Bloomingdale roof by Morse code. The message read: "The right to vote is the bulwark of American liberty. Exercise that right on Tuesday." Mr. Balacaire, A. S. M. of Troop 711, and Mr. Wilkerson witnessed the colorful meeting. Mr. Wilkerson kindly helped to interpret for us.

The Annual Military Competition and Drill of the New York School for the Deaf Cadet Battalion will take place Friday afternoon, the 20th, at 2 o'clock. Preceding the Competition, the classrooms of the Primary and Intermediate School will be open for visiting between 1:30 and 2 o'clock.

George M. Teegarden

At 6 o'clock P.M. in the evening of Saturday, November 14th, Mr. George M. Teegarden, a former teacher at the Western Pennsylvania School, died of pneumonia at the Columbia Hospital, Pittsburgh. He retained consciousness to the end, conversing with his wife and his daughter, Alice, who had responded to a hurry call to her in New York, and was present at the end. Mr. Teegarden was 84 years old.

He was born in the town of Jefferson, Pa., on March 11th, 1852, and until he lost his hearing through illness at the age of eleven, he attended the village school. When he reached the age of sixteen he entered as a pupil at the Iowa School for the Deaf, then located at Iowa City. After a three years course of study, he was admitted to Gallaudet College, graduating with the famous class of '76, which included Dudley Webster, George, William G. Jones and George M. Teegarden, which the latter once dubbed "The George's Three, '76."

"The Georges, a peculiar bunch,
Excell in some choice ways—
D. W. George, a hunch he had
For languages always.
W. George J., he ever had
A love for comic plays
But George M. T.—his diction bad—
Evolved some poet's lays."

In the fall of 1876, Prof. James H. Logan, the Superintendent of the Western Pennsylvania School at Edgewood, appointed Mr. Teegarden a teacher, a position he held for forty-three years, when he retired from the profession. While connected with the school he started the printing office there and also originated the Holiday Gazette, which later became the Western Pennsylvanian. He assisted in the preparation and printing of the Raindrops, one of the finest magazines especially intended for deaf children, presenting all forms of literature in simple language, which made it an inexhaustible mine of literary information. He also compiled and adapted a volume entitled "Stories Old and New," which was published by the School. Perhaps his greatest literary accomplishment are his poetic productions, of which several small volumes have been published for private circulation. The most recent was his "Personal and Holiday Poems."

In his useful life he was punctual and exact in the performance of duty. His career presents a character that practically overcame a trying handicap; in the face of it he was a prominent and respected figure in his home town, mingling freely with the people of the community with whom he always used speech, which he retained and used with proficiency.

In addition to his success as an instructor, Mr. Teegarden gave freely of his time and his talents to advocating and assisting in all that tended to the betterment of the status of the deaf as useful citizens. He, in his time, filled many offices in organizations of the deaf, and rejoiced in all that advanced their interests whether in a religious or worldly sense. He will be missed by those who knew him and who respected his qualities as a scholar and gentleman.

NEW YORK CITY

THEATRE GUILD

The elevator shot to the top floor, the doors slid open and one stepped into a rural setting. The walls of the Ritz Ballroom at 146th Street and Broadway are painted all over with pastoral scenes which, while perhaps not works of art, were quite pleasing to the eye in the twilight effect of the soft dim lights.

Under a tall elm in one corner was a demure flower girl in the person of Eleanor Sherman with real blooms on sale, who appeared to be part of the Talent Night ensemble but turned out to be selling for the benefit of a church fund. A cigarette girl likewise occupied was Miss Dibble. The permission given was a gracious gesture of the Theatre Guild.

Even the ceiling was painted sky-blue and was studded with twinkling stars, which led one wit (Joe Schmidt) to say reminded him of his store teeth—they come out only at night. Nevertheless, the novelty of the surroundings was relished by a good many.

There were nearly four hundred present, being quite a representative gathering of the Gotham deaf, as well as of its other suburbs such as Philadelphia, Baltimore, Albany and New Haven, etc. The various tables were reserved in advance and each group became animated centers of conversation. All were out for a good time and came to see and be seen.

The ballroom proper was kept cleared, and two blinding floodlights illuminated the center for the "show," on which opinions differ. Talent Night, some thought, was a misnomer—amateur being better. Others opined too many skits were of a literary-meeting character—what was needed being less talk and more action. The Guild could have filled in with a couple of acts more lively than the Lynch-Jaffe talkfest.

The Italian dialog, tap dancing, "Coming Thru the Rye," and Rubin mimic numbers were easily the best. Mrs. Rubin's imitations of those she knew well brought down the house (or most of it), and as the greatest applause manifested the popular choice, first prize and the silver cup were awarded to her. Second, third and fourth choices were more difficult to determine and Chairman McArdle had to keep his ear close to the ground to detect variations in the volume of applause.

The dance floor was excellent, and the African Rhumba Quint in a corner blared forth the music for dancing at intervals between the floor show, and after. An excellent feature was the absence of overcrowding, so the couples could actually dance instead of being caromed around as is usually the case.

On the whole, the Theatre Guild affair was quite an enjoyable one. The night club aspect was a novelty, and the tables kept the waiters busy bringing things to eat and drink. Perhaps the gathering attested that the deaf public likes to do something more than merely sit through a long performance, and the Guild might do well to stage another. At any rate the Theatre Guild established itself as a drawing card in its aim to furnish entertainment for the deaf.

"Toot, toot," was the most William Lange could say to his friends Saturday evening at the Talent Night affair. It developed that he and the Mrs. had come to New York from Albany on the night boat, and as it was misty most of the way, Bill got little sleep by reason of the all-night foghorn symphony. While in town they were the guests of the David Morrills.

Misses Margaret McKellar and Marie Coretti of Baltimore, Md., were present at the Talent Night, and spent a busy Sunday calling on acquaintances around town before returning to the Overlea School.

Seen at the Guild show were big Howard Ferguson of Philadelphia journalistic fame. More appreciable was the sight of Mrs. Fergy. Come in the choo-choo cars next time, so you can stay longer, instead of rushing back to get to Phila before dawn in order to see what time it is by the Sears-Roebuck tower clock. Others from the Keystone State noticed were the Bauerle sisters, Miss Young and first-nighter John A. Roach.

From New Jersey came the Prescotts, the Dobbins, romantic Mr. Don Diego, besides David Davidowitz and a good many others. Connecticut sent its quota; from Brooklyn there were the McDermotts, the Calls, etc., from the Union League came Anthony Capelle and there were also Mr. and Mrs. Alex Goldfogle from all over the United States.

H. A. D.

Quite a large number of members were at the monthly meeting last Sunday afternoon. Most of the meeting was taken up by the nomination of officers for the 30th year old H. A. D., and it is to be noticed that there were plenty of surprising candidates. The following are the nominees: President, Joseph Sturtz vs. Lester Cohen; First Vice-President, Moses Schnapp (by acclamation); Second Vice-President, Mrs. William Krieger vs. Mrs. Joseph Peters; Secretary, Mrs. Anna Sturtz (by acclamation); Treasurer, Joseph Miller vs. Harry Kurz. The election will occur at the next meeting on December 20th.

This coming Saturday evening (Nov. 21) a "something new" affair, namely, "Bingo" will be given at the headquarters. Various beautiful prizes will be awarded to the winners. Net proceeds will go to the cemetery fund. Mr. William Krieger is the chairman.

The vaudeville show given by the W. P. A. last Wednesday evening attracted a full house. The program was very good and the numbers were dog acts, magic, tap dances, aerial somersaults, jugglers, ventriloquists, clown acts, musical antics. The next program set for Wednesday evening, December 9th, will be a well-known Chinese play, "The Mikado." Yes, the admission is free and everybody is welcome.

Next Saturday evening, November 21st, the Brooklyn Division, No. 23, holds forth with its Thanksgiving Frolic at Odd Fellows Hall. Games and dancing will feature the evening. The new 8th Ave. subway has a station at Hoyt and Schermerhorn Streets, two blocks from the Hall. Of course, the Nevins St. station, 7th Ave. subway is well known and nearby. Come and try for a turkey.

New York State

Send items for this column to William M. Lange, Jr., 57 Dove Street, Albany, N. Y.

"No news is good news." This little saying has been supposed to be true from the time Man first learned to carry messages, way back in caveman times. If there was no news of your friends, well, you just believed that they were all right. And, if no news is good news, then the news of New York State is almost all good. For two weeks we have heard no news at all of any of the deaf in the State except here in Albany and New York City. If the folks who like to hear good news that is not no news, they will have to send me a few post cards now and then so the writer can fill up this column. After all, a columnist is only as good as his correspondents.

A few of the deaf in this town went up to Hartford to attend the Golden Harvest Ball, and to see the American School's football team beat the boys from Fanwood. Those who went from Albany were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Calkins, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond DeMars, Anson DeMars, and Viola Jungle, Mrs. DeMars' sister. The two DeMars brothers are from Connecticut themselves, so it was more or less of a homecoming party to them. They report a very good time, and the only thing they don't like about it is that they can't go to an affair like that every month. They told us there were something like 465 persons present at the banquet there. (We wonder if there were more than two or three oysters in the soup, if they had oyster soup.)

Well over one hundred spooksters were at the Hallowe'en party the Schenectady Division of the N F S D gave on October 31st. Funny thing, but your reporter was unable to find anyone there who seemed to be having a poor time. Six persons in particular were very glad they went, because the committee split twelve dollars among them, as reward for the best and craziest costumes. The two first prizes were carried off by lovely 'Pierrot' Edna Fraser and big fat Pumpkin Man Merton Robinson. The next two were won by Rag Doll Cornelia Lyman and 'Chink' Bashwinger. The last two were captured by the funny little Dr. Monday, Amelia Kooper, (who looked more like a Bolshevik to us) and Hobo Peter Corrigan. The games were so funny we did not see who won them because we were either laughing too hard or looking at the pretty girls too much. But they made everyone so hungry that the food committee had to send out three times to buy more pie, onions and hamburg. Even the people who always went to bed at nine o'clock did not leave until after two, and the late stayers may still be there, for all we know. The whole thing seemed to be a right successful affair, and that is what counts up on the books after it's all over.

James M. Lewis, the president of the Empire State Association of the Deaf, came all the way up from Binghamton for a confab with Secretary William M. Lange, Jr., and to attend the Big Doings in Schenectady on the side. The results of the meeting of the two officers will be published soon. The other members of the ESAD's Executive Board must give their approval before anything can be said to be officially decided. But it can be said that the work that will give New York a State Labor Bureau has been begun. We think that it would be to the advantage of every deaf person in the State to become a member, and put their shoulder back of their officers. You know that generals and captains can't win a war with out an army of privates. The fee is only a dollar for two years membership, which isn't much, considering what the deaf of the State are expecting of the Association.

Mr. Lewis came North in the car of Mr. Simpson of Binghamton, who also brought John Rowe and Amelio Fusco, of the same town, with him, as passengers. All of them attended the Hallowe'en frolic, along with many other persons from all over the Eastern part of the State, who were too numerous to mention here.

Mrs. Belle Fisher Shattuck, one of the old time graduates of Fanwood, resides in the picturesque village of Cohocton, with her deaf daughter Lotta, who graduated from the Rochester school some years ago. Mrs. William S. Gibbs, formerly of Rochester, after alternately visiting relatives at Coxsackie, N. Y., and Montclair, N. J., plans to spend the winter, at least, in Albany, making her home on Madison Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Donnelly of Albany, are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby boy on November 10th. The newcomer weighed seven pounds, and is named Alan. Mother and son are doing very well, and Daddy Fred's chest has expanded seven inches.

WILLIAM M. LANGE.

CHICAGOLAND

Charlotte and Charles Lamberton were dancing across the stage of Chicago Theatre, the largest movie palace in Chicago, for one week from October 23 to 29, almost before the deaf citizens became aware of this fact. Only by chance did the writer come onto it, saw their performance of about five minutes, and personally visited them for one hour. They proved to be a pair of polished lip-readers. Despite his six-foot height, Charles was boyish, which enhanced his charm. Charlotte, the more quiet of the two, was longer in the field of professional dancing, starting something like ten years ago. Both were tall, red-haired, and moved around with an easy carriage. On stage, one could not notice that this team was deaf from their lithe grace and ease with which they stepped, swift and sparkling in their dual moving unison, with touches of originality.

They were approachable and modest. They could not see why more deaf people did not enter this professional field if they succeeded in it themselves despite their handicap from birth. They were interested in the coming Chicago 1937 NAD Convention and the writer made efforts to engage them for one night during this convention week. It was impossible for them to tell so far ahead whether they could consent, but agreed to keep him in touch at intervals.

For the fourth straight year the deaf have almost a whole page in Splading's Official Basketball Guide. Release of the 1937 Guide shows Chicago's ex-National AAU Wrestling champion—J. Frederick Meagher, who gave up conducting this Chicago column in 1927—is still delegated to the duty of covering the whole continent under the heading of the deaf schools.

Mr. Meagher has been assigned by the Local Committee of next July's NAD convention, to handle a separate booth for the "athletic display" in the Chicago's Exhibit of American Deaf. Photos and brief descriptions of outstanding deaf athletes will be welcomed; as will photos and notes on unusual achievements by deaf folks in arts, industries, and other lines. The committee is hoping that this exhibit may help put an end to industrial prejudice and discrimination toward the deaf in general, as shown by employers.

Raises in wages and bonuses and dividends! What else? The Chicago League of the Hebrew Deaf had something to say at the annual dance and cards—their twelfth—they had at Capitol Hall (not Capitol Building), 4818 N. Kedzie Avenue. An extraordinary number of new faces and a new spurge of returns marked this affair, far ahead of last few gatherings. They took in a few more new members besides the ten that joined in October. James Epstein had charge.

President Arthur L. Roberts, grand president of the NFSD, took his wife with him on a visit to that 240-acre farm near Boneville, Mo., which the society took over on mortgage during the incumbency of Henry Anderson, and has since proven a non-paying investment. He started negotiations for a trade-in on dividend-returning property in the vicinity. As this is not far from his old home-town in Kansas, they visited Mr. Roberts' aged mother there before returning just in time to vote.

Mrs. Rhilla Blair gave Illinois Home for Aged Deaf her check for $500, at the October meeting. This gracious gesture was a godsend, as the home management has been on needles and pins to make ends meet.

Mrs. J. Meagher with U-Bridge Club netted $34.00 with her home card-soiree on the 7th, which will go for "eats" at the annual city-wide charity card party on the 25th, the night before Thanksgiving, to be held in the Northwest Hall, North and Western Avenues.

Mrs. Horace Perry is convalescing from an operation for appendicitis. George White wants friends to visit him in Alexian Bros. hospital. Wm. Zollinger is better, following his nervous breakdown.

The mother of Peter J. Livshis left for New York for several weeks.

"De l'Epee Pilgrimage" on the 22d, to the Morton estate in South Elgin. Cards will be played for charity.

Martin Lowe is touring west, taking in Tennessee, Louisiana, Texas and is making for California.

Herbert Gunner is back from a leisurely tour of Florida. (No; not by thumbing.) He works for a railroad, and rode on a pass.) He reported agreeable hospitality shown by his friends.

Herman Vanderplow, 135-lbs., is said to be slated to fight in Manhattan shortly.

Mrs. Ben Jacobson's brother is touring Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Vito Villone returned from the week-end honeymoon in Milwaukee, Wis.

Mr. W. S. Root of Seattle, sends along the following clipping which is good reading. Chehalis is three miles from Centralia, where the big Seattle-Portland Frat picnic was held last July.

LOUD TALKING PROHIBITED!
By A. Ted Goodwin, in the Lewis County, Advocate, Chehalis, Wash.

Can you imagine a picnic with everybody having a wonderful time, playing games, licking ice-cream cones, gobbling potato salad and deviled eggs, exchanging the latest news of mutual friends, receiving and acknowledging introductions, and even a moderate degree of well placed flirting, and all without one word spoken? Well, I saw it done last Saturday (July 25) at Centralia's Borst Park, when 300 deaf people were having a grand time. Fine, intelligent people, men and women, young and middle-aged, with a sprinkling of children tossed in to keep the mothers on their toes. The men played expert horseshoe and baseball. Think of an umpire who never had to hear a decision greeted with the well known "razzberry!" Tug-of-war, wrestling, foot races and other sports made a full program for people who love to play, even as you and I. The talking was, of course, done by hand, a lovely innovation in a day of noise and rasping racket in the world around us. The conversations were animated and full of all shades of feeling, judging by the facial expression, which accompanied the finger-spelling of the dialogs.

The ladies, who traditionally, in all circumstances like to tell things, I am informed, did not let the handicap of lacking vocal speech slow them up for so much as one second. Their fingers flew like lightning, and they had the added dignity of not running out of breath before the tale was told, which sometimes happens when oral speech comes easy. The deaf people were a well-mannered lot of ladies and gentlemen enjoying a holiday as good Americans anywhere will do. It is evident that their handicap in the matter of speech and hearing is atoned for, pretty largely, by an exceptional sharpness of mental and visual perception. Those people are keen as razors when it comes to business. They can read your mind by the expression of your face. They do not want anybody's pity. They want a chance to work and to prove what they can do. They are having lots of fun living clear above their affliction in the realm of courageous thinking and constructive doing. Just keep an eye on them at work or at play and see if they aren't mighty admirable people. Our hats are off to the instructors who have taught wisely and well. May we who have all our faculties of speech and hearing make as good a showing in proportion. We'll have to "snap out of it."

O H I O

News items for this column can be sent to William T. Uren, School for the Deaf, Columbus, Ohio

Things have been rather quiet in these parts the past week. Mr. George Clum is making a slow recovery from the injuries he suffered when knocked down by a car near his home a few weeks ago. He is now under the care of his eldest daughter. Charles Robbins underwent an operation for rupture two weeks ago and is now at home making a rapid recovery. Mr. C. C. Neuner and his wife are still confined to the house with the leg injuries both suffered during the summer. Mr. Neuner still writes the local news for the Frat, but his column that used to appear in the Chronicle is sadly missed. His keen wit and sage sayings were, indeed, a pleasure to read.

The local Frats held their annual smoker at the K. of C. last Saturday, November 7th. Three members were made to ride the goat as their initiation into the organization, being Mr. Ray Stallo, Mr. Max McCallie, and Mr. Charles Collins of Springfield. After the initiation, a fine feed with refreshments was served and this was followed by a picture show which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Well, the election is over and we have President Roosevelt at the "helm" of the government for another four years. Let's hope that he will lead us all to better times. Gov. Davey was elected as Governor of Ohio for another two years. It was a surprise to many that Gov. Davey carried the election as he was not conceded a chance before the election, and Attorney General Bricker (R) was thought to be a sure winner. Gov. Davey had gained general favor of the Ohio deaf by his action of closing the bindery and refusing to allow the school the amount it asked for in the budget passed by the Legislature, and his victory was not a popular one.

Ye scribe was made a proud uncle two times in the last few weeks. His brother in Akron was made the father of a fine baby boy, while his sister in England has a baby daughter. At the rate these nephews and nieces are coming he will have to keep a card index of them so he can remember how many there are.

We witnessed the game between Ohio State and Chicago last Saturday, and whoever said that Ohio has no football team knows very little about football. Ohio simply played with Chicago like a child plays with a toy, using their reserves to do the work most of the time. Ohio won by 44 to 0. It could have been more, but the Ohio coach wanted to test out his reserves in action, a chance that had been denied him this year owing to the heavy schedule Ohio has gone through this season. Returning from the game we met Mr. Jimmy Flood and Miss K. Buster, who had also been to see the game. Both of them are red hot football fans.

Mr. A. B. Greener and his daughter Mrs. Thomas were visitors to the printing office one day this week. We are always glad to see the old gentleman, but wonder if his age is starting to creep up on him. Last year he hardly missed a week without calling at the office, while this year his visits are few and far between.

Wonder what has become of Miss Edgar? Haven't seen her these many moons. We expect to see her this week as she is sure to drop in at the school to see the Akron players present "Safety First" in our school chapel this Saturday. We hope to solve the question as to who has been slipping other news items into this column besides what I write.

The bowling fever has got into the blood of the Columbus deaf population. Not only the Columbus deaf but the deaf of other cities as well,

At present the best bowlers are in Cleveland, though Akron will hotly deny this. The Columbus team is very likely to be Wm. Myles, Philip Holdren, Bill MacBlane and Otto Seidowski. These boys make a very good team, and several more are coming along with practice, namely Casper Jacobson, Ralph Ogden, and Israel Crossen. Akron and Cleveland had better keep in practice, as good old Columbus town will have something that will be hard to beat, providing they practice with the determination with which they have started.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cahen of Cleveland are headed for sunny California. The stay there will be for several months as the cold winters of Ohio are too hard on the health of this young couple. Wish we could crawl into their traveling bags and go along.

After a year of failing health, Mr. William Unsworth of Akron, passed away on October 24 at the home of his son, Robert Unsworth. Mr. Unsworth was 74, and was educated at the school for the deaf at Kendall Green, D. C. His body was cremated at Cleveland.

Mrs. Ella Zell, Messrs. Ernest Zell and Earl Mathers spent the weekend of October 31st as the guests of Elam Ortz in Dayton. While in Dayton they called on many friends, and dropped in on Mr. and Mrs. N. I. Snyder and wished Mrs. Snyder many more happy birthdays.

Richmond, Va.

Some time in October the Rev. Bryant of Washington, D. C., came to Staunton, Va., to preach to the deaf Bible Class. It was reported that his sermon was fine.

Prof. Hughes of Gallaudet College conducted the Sunday service to the deaf Baptist Bible Class at Harrisonburg, Va., on November 1st. Some deaf folks went there from Staunton in their cars.

The writer and his deaf sister Ida made a motor visit to the Virginia School for the Deaf recently. They met a few teachers whom they knew in their school days. Next they went to spend some hours with their schoolmate, Miss Genevieve W. Norman. Sunday morning they visited the new beautiful school for the blind. The writer enjoyed some talks with Mr. and Mrs. Grabin Gill, both orally and finger-spelling.

Fourteen deaf people from various parts of Virginia attended the big Frat social party in Washington, D. C., October 17; six of them from Richmond, Va.

The Richmond Times-Ditpatch announced the death of the Rev. Mr. L. H. Tracy (October 21). The news saddened the deaf people of Virginia, who extend deep sympathy to the family of the deceased. Rev. Mr. Tracy was considered one of the most graceful sign makers. His sermons were very clear to those who came to see them.

Rev. W. Geiger Irwin, who has a large group of the deaf in connection with his work at St. Andrew's, went to Ireland and Scotland last summer to attend the Episcopal Congress. He brought greetings from similar groups in the British Isles, particularly Glasgow and Dublin, to the deaf in Richmond. Rev. Irwin gave a movie show to a group of members, which was very interesting.

While in Glasgow, Irwin visited the Mission to the Deaf and Dumb for Glasgow and West of Scotland. This includes the Royal Institute and John Ross Memorial Church on West Regent Street, as well as the Mission Workshops on Douglas Street.

The Institute is a large three story building erected some twenty years ago. It is equipped with various recreational and industrial material to meet all the needs of this much handicapped portion of the population. James W. Greig is the Missionary and Secretary. Both Mr. Greig's parents were deaf, but he has all his faculties and is giving his life to the work. He has assisting him George S. Drysdale and a large staff.

Being in Glasgow, Scotland, over a Sunday, Rev. Irwin took part in the service for the deaf in the beautiful new church for the deaf, which is situated west and adjacent to the Royal Institute. He conveyed the greetings of the Richmond deaf group and told some of the many things that were being done for the welfare of the deaf here. His remarks were interpreted by the missionary. After the service he met all those who were present, and was later shown over the Institute.

Rev. Irwin found the work being done in Dublin for the deaf divided three ways. A wonderful group of buildings is situated just on the outskirts for the men. It is under the auspices of the Roman Catholic Church and is conducted along lines both of elementary education and vocational training. Here they have over 300 in regular attendance seven days of the week. When the boys and young men have finished their training at St. Joseph's, positions are found for them in the industrial world. A similar institution is maintained for the girls and young women in another part of the city.

The third enterprise is being sponsored by the Protestant Church in Ireland. It is known as "The Mission to the Adult Deaf and Dumb." Its object is to minister to the wants, both spiritual and temporal of deaf in the Irish Free State. To accomplish this the deaf are visited in their homes, and services and bible classes are conducted for them in the sign-language. Authorized and properly qualified missionaries carry on this work. They not only work in the larger centres, but they hold out to the deaf in rural Ireland, inducements to keep up the knowledge acquired at school. To these general objects of the Society is added the serious effort to raise their moral and social status by introducing them to such organizations in their respective neighborhoods as may be found already working for the advantage of the public in general.

Rev. Irwin gives the following history of the First Bible Class for the Deaf of Richmond:

At the request of a friend of the deaf-mutes of Richmond, Mrs. F. D. Chiles began teaching a Bible Class in her home in 1893, which she continued until Rev. O. J. Whildin was appointed missionary to the Deaf of Virginia and other states.

At a service held in St. Andrew's Chapel, Mr. Whildin, who could come only once a month, suggested that the deaf hold their Bible Class every Sunday in St. Andrew's Chapel. They unanimously selected Mrs. F. D. Chiles to continue to teach the class. Rev. Mr. Semmes was then rector. After teaching regularly for years, Mrs. Chiles became ill and the class was temporarily discontinued.

When Rev. J. F. Ribble became Rector of St. Andrew's Church, he called on Mrs. Chiles and arranged for her to hold the class in St. Andrew's School building in order to allow the mothers to bring their children where they would not disturb the church services. This is why the "Bible Class for the Deaf" is held in the school building instead of the Chapel.

Mr. Ribble assured Mrs. Chiles that as he was not acquainted with the needs of the deaf, any request or suggestion from her would receive his attention, whereupon she suggested a room for a Literary Society. On the first Sunday in October, 1916, Mrs. Chiles began teaching the class in the school building and has continued up to the present time.

There were then only six members of St. Andrew's, now there are thirty seven, but some have moved away. Three have died, comforted by the knowledge and hope given them in this class. The others are all living a better and a happier life as a result of this class.

The Literary Society held in the school building has also been of great benefit to the deaf, where they discuss current events, have educational lectures, poetry in signs and games of an instructive as well as of an amusing nature.

While both "The Deaf Bible Class" and "The Literary Society" are altogether and entirely under the care and charge of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church and of its Rector, Rev. W. Geiger Irwin, who takes much interest in these classes, all the deaf have been invited and entertained. In all these years Mrs. Chiles has always looked after the interest of every deaf person applying for help, instruction or sympathy.

On the first Sunday of each month, the class takes its Communion with St. Andrew's congregation. On the second Sunday of each month, the Rev. H. Lorraine Tracy representing the Church Mission to the Deaf, and who was the General Missionary to the Deaf in the part of the country, preached to the class in the Chapel of St. Andrew's Church or celebrated the Holy Communion or both.

During the depression an "Oliver Twist Club" was organized. Those who could bring provisions for a supper. Others patronized the affair. The ones who were out of work were welcomed, and if there were any profits, the money was applied to keep up the insurance premiums of those out of employment. This club usually met on Saturday nights, to give those who were teaching or attending schools near an opportunity to participate.

Detroit

Mr. William James' parents of Indiana, spent several days with the family and his brother.

Mr. Howard Stottler and Miss Ruth Brown of Pontiac, were at the D. A. D. Club hall on October 24th.

Miss Bessie Goggin of Chicago, Ill., is visiting with her friends, Mr. and Mrs. M. Purivance and Mr. Glenn Smith.

Mr. George Trine, formerly of Flint, who has been in California and other states, has secured a job at the Fisher Body Co. in Pontiac.

Mr. Robert Smith of Toledo, Ohio, was killed by a passing automobile, while he was on the highway in the early morning. He was not known to Detroiters in person.

Miss Marion Mann of Flint, has been staying with her friends, Mr. and Mrs. C. Kubisch.

Mr. Ernest Creteau of Boston, Mass., an employee at F. L. Jacobs, spent several days in Detroit and visited the club hall at the D. A. D. last week.

Mrs. Arthur Tremain's second daughter, Beatrice, underwent an operation recently. She is much improved and is at home now.

Mrs. Montcalm Laura left St. Mary's Hospital two weeks ago where she had a tumor removed. She is much improved at this writing.

Mr. Billy Waters, with a group of his friends, drove down to Columbus, Ohio, to attend the Ohio and Michigan football game. Michigan was beaten by the score 6 to 0. Jack Waters was hurt, but got over it all right in a few days.

Mr. Arthur Meck, Jr., visited in Cass City, Mich., for one night last week.

Mrs. L. Moore and her son are visiting in Tulsa, Okla., with Mrs. Moore's sister and another sister in Bartleville, Okla.

Mrs. Emma Hannan was missed by her friends as she is visiting her son in Lincoln for a while.

Miss Tipps of Tennessee, is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Zeiller for a few days.

The masque ball, which was given by the Detroit Bowling League of the Deaf, for the benefit of the Great Lakes Bowling Congress, at the American Legion Hall, on Saturday night, October 31st, came out with a record of 650 attendance. Fifty dollars were given away to the costumers of the mask ball. Mr. Landberg of Buffalo, carried off the first prize of fifteen dollars as a Jewish peddler. Other prizes ranged from $5.00 to $1.00. Many came from New York, Ohio, Kalamazoo, Flint and other places. The profit swelled up the bowling fund. The next ball will come up in February, 1937. Ivan Heymans was the general chairman.

The Ladies' Service League of St. John's Church for the Deaf, will have a big Fair on December 11th. A crocheted bedspread, made by a member of the League will be disposed of that evening.

The D. A. D. will have a Feather party on Saturday, November 21st, at its hall. There will be 10 turkeys, 15 geese, 20 ducks, 25 chickens, 10 smoked hams and 20 baskets of groceries as prizes.

For the benefit of the new generation it may be worth while to recall some of the traditions of Fanwood, particularly of the early instructors who accomplished so much in the education of the deaf.

Born at Bethlehem, Connecticut, on November 19th, 1794, a graduate of Yale, class of 1822, Harvey Prindle Peet is still remembered by former pupils, by educators and by friends of the deaf. Two years after his graduation from college he became a member of the faculty of what is now known as the American School for the Deaf, at Hartford. In February, 1831, he was invited by its Directors to become Principal of the New York School for the Deaf. He accepted, and held that office until his retirement in 1867. From 1845 to 1859, in addition to serving as Principal of the school, he filled the office of President of the Board of Directors.

He was an educator with advanced ideals and within a few years, assisted by an able staff of competent instructors, mostly selected from among Yale graduates who had been trained and gained experience at the American School, he established a great reputation for the New York School in its work of instructing the deaf.

Since his death, on January 1, 1873, at least nine of his family have been engaged in the education of the deaf at one time or another; today his granddaughter, a highly accomplished representative, is a professor at Gallaudet, following in the paths of her grandfather, father, mother, brother, two uncles and three cousins. The strain of this family's blood is still in the work with full ardor and ability. Probably it is the longest extant record of a family service in the education of the deaf.

THE MONTH of November also marked the birth of another, perhaps the most conspicuous of instructors of the deaf of all time, in the person of the Abbe De l'Epee, to whom America is indirectly indebted for the system originally adopted by early American teachers of the deaf.

Of those whose names stand forth most prominently as teachers of the deaf in France, and in fact in the world, that of l'Epee is unquestionably and properly accorded the highest post of honor. Born at Versailles, France, on the 5th (some records name the 24th and 25th) of November, 1712, de l'Epee is recognized as the father of what is sometimes called the French system of instructing the deaf. His father was an architect in the service of King Louis XIV, and gave much attention to impressing upon his children the principles of right living and of consideration for the happiness of others. L'Epee thus developed a character for simplicity and the desire to be of service to his fellow men. Naturally his longings turned to the ministry and, at length, the great wish of his soul came to realization through an incident that opened the path to usefulness to humanity, which Providence had designed he should occupy. His natural zeal and piety attracted the attention of a prelate, a nephew of Bishop Bossuet, and the latter offered him a small canonry in his bishopric of Meaux, and further, through this influence, he was enabled to obtain his great desire to be admitted to the priesthood, and entered upon his duties with enthusiastic ardor. His happiness, however, was short-lived as, upon the death of Bossuet, he was interdicted from further exercise of the functions of a priest.

Thus excluded from the priestly vocation, he chanced one day to enter the home of two young girls who were engaged at needlework. Upon questioning them, he received no reply. Their mother informed him that her daughters could neither hear nor speak. They had received a little instruction from a benevolent priest in the neighborhood, Father Vanin, by means of pictures, but this kind teacher had died, and there had been no further instruction. "Believing," l'Epee says, "that these two unfortunate would live and die in ignorance of religion if I made no effort to instruct them, my heart was filled with compassion, and I promised, if they were committed to my charge, that I would do all for them that I was able." Previous to this experience the foundation of his system of instruction had already been made through having received, as a youth, from his tutor the principle that there is no more connection between abstract ideas and the articulate sound reaching the ear than there is between the same ideas and written characters addressed to the eye.

His difficulty was how to teach the deaf-mute language, to lead them to understand written printed words. He came to the conclusion that the natural language of signs would be the suitable means for such a service in the case of those deaf from birth. He then entered upon a study of the subject to become familiar with the gestures used by them. A man of gentle spirit and disinterested kindness, he used his income of some 400 livres to open a school for the indigent deaf, maintaining them at his own expense. He reserved 100 livres for his own personal expenses, devoting the remainder to the support of his pupils, whom he regarded as his own children. He gave all his strength in self-denying labors for their improvement and happiness. Such a kind nature, with the tireless work his life shows in his efforts for the deaf, deserves the affectionate and permanent remembrance it receives from the deaf in this country.

It is with feelings of deep sorrow that we learn of the death of Prof. George M. Teegarden. He had but recently celebrated his Golden Wedding, and appeared to be in excellent health when stricken with pneumonia, and passed away after a short illness.

The charm of his personality drew many into friendship with him, and they will regret the passing of one so valuable and prominent in his own circle. He will be remembered for his impersonal and exceptional contributions to the welfare of his fellows. Those who knew him as a brilliant representative of the scholarly among them fully recognized and appreciated his sterling character as a gentleman of culture, of poetic disposition and of outstanding leadership.

To his bereaved wife and his daughter, Alice, the latter of whom is affectionately known and esteemed by the Alumni of Fanwood and of Gallaudet College, we tender our heartfelt sympathy.

The O. W. L. S. wish to announce the presentation of a play "A Maid of Plymouth" on Wednesday evening, November 25, at eight o'clock, in Chapel Hall. The play will be under the direction of Miss Georgiana Krepela, assisted by Miss Catherine Marshall. The price of admission will be twenty-five cents for adults and fifteen cents for children. Leo Jacobs will have charge of the sale of tickets in College Hall, and Lillian Hahn in Fowler Hall. It is hoped that a large crowd will be present.

On Friday evening, November 6, Dean Elizabeth Peet gave a talk before the Literary Society in Chapel Hall. Her subject was "Our Hall of Fame," and she spoke on the statues and portraits of the educators of the deaf that fill our Chapel Hall. The Fanwood boys with their coach, Rudolph Gamblin, '35 and Mr. Adrian Tainsley, took in Miss Peet's lecture.

Saturday afternoon, November 7, while the Gallaudet warriors were battling City College in New York, Hotchkiss Field was monopolized by the Fanwood and the West Virginia football teams, the latter emerging victorious, 9 to 6. A large crowd of the students turned out to see the game, and the committee in charge are pleased to report that a fair profit was made and turned over to the Endowment Fund.

Saturday, November 7th, the Buff and Blue gridders journeyed to New York City, where, in a drizzling rain, they gamely held out against a City College of New York avalanche. Although they lost, 34 to 0, the Blues have nothing to be ashamed of, as City College was much out of their class, and it is a wonder that the score was not much greater. The game was all City College's except for some spectacular Gallaudet plays in the closing minutes of the game that brought large gains in yardage to the Blues. The score might have been even less, as City College made 20 points in the first quarter, but the Blues recovered and held them to only 14 points throughout the other three quarters. That night, the milling crowd around the Times Building at Times Square, New York, saw the name Gallaudet flashed across the moving bulletin around the building, announcing its defeat 34 to 0. This was the first time that our college name was brought before the public eye in such a manner.

Friday evening, November 13, the movie club presented "The Bright Shawl," a touching movie of the days of Cuba's suffering under the Spanish oppression. Two short comedies and a movie of Gallaudet's football game with Wilson Teachers College were also shown. Prior to the show, Mr. Powrie Doctor gave a short outline of the annual bus trip scheduled for Friday, November 27. This year's bus trip will be to Williamsburg, Va., and the surrounding country.

The students are looking forward to the annual Mollycoddle football game, which will take place on Hotchkiss Field on the afternoon of November 21st. The Lowers are heavily favored against the Uppers, but although they have only just enough men to make up a team, the Uppers are out to make things tough for the Lowers. The annual football dance will be held in the Old Gym the same evening, when "G" letter awards and honorable mentions will be awarded to deserving football players.

Saturday, November 14, the Blue gridders journeyed to Emmitsburg, Md., where they were defeated by a powerful Mt. St. Mary's College eleven, 39 to 0. The Mounts piled up a 21 to 0 score in the first quarter but the Blues doggedly held them off thereafter, allowing them only six points for each respective quarter thereafter. The Apichella brothers, Scesney, Rudack, and Kuratnick starred for the Mounts. The Blues all played a good game, with Drake, Hoffmeister, and Pepper Brown starring.

In this game, halfback Al "Hurdy-Gurdy" Hoffmeister, fullback Dan Long, and tackle Olaf Tolleson wore their Buff and Blue football uniforms for the last time, next June being diploma time for them.

Gallaudet's football record for the present year is here given:

GALLAUDET	OPPONENT
0 Bridgewater College	18
15 William and Mary College	16
(Norfolk)
27 Wilson Teachers College	6
0 City College of New York	34
0 Mt. St. Mary's College	39

Sunday morning, November 15, the Chapel lecture was given over to the annual Community Chest Drive. Dr. Ely gave a talk on "The Community Chest—Its meaning and purpose." Dorothy Hay '37, spoke on "Organizations Caring for Children," and Olaf Tolleson '37 spoke briefly on "Travellers' Aid." Miss Elizabeth Benson spoke on "Camp Goodwill," a camp for children in Rock Creek Park here, with which she has been connected for many years. Dr. Ely closed with a brief account of the money expended by the Gallaudet Sunday School from 1922 to 1936.

On November 7th, Willard Hill's birthday was celebrated by his friends at John M. Stauffer's house, on Lincoln Street. Mr. Hill was 66 years old. Unique novelties were fished out of a miniature pond on the table. A good collation was served. Present were John M. Stauffer, Clarence J. Reimiller, Luther Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cherrington, Stephen Tulay, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kuchar, Willard Hill, Lucy Taminani, Salvadore M. Joseph, Thurston Knies and Austin Sergeant.

The Cosmopolitan Club of the Deaf had the satisfaction of seeing the biggest crowd of the year at its dance on October 31st. The largest turnout of costumes had the crowd guessing as to the identity of those wearing them. Prize for the most original costume went to Mr. Reilly; for the most beautiful, to Mrs. Mount; and for most comical to Mrs. Keene. The usual merriment and gaiety marked the occasion, which was greatly enjoyed. Too bad that Hallowe'en must come but once a year. Everything is all set for the Thanksgiving Dance on Wednesday evening, November 24th.

An independent basketball team has made its appearance hereabouts, and so far it seems to have gone over with a bang. Starting but a short time ago, it has already beaten the Shell Oil Company team, class B title holders two years ago, and the Clifton Cafeteria team, city title holders last year, by most decisive scores. The team is composed of Louis Dyer, captain, Mike Korack, (picked for All American team by J. Meagher in 1933), Valentine Cookson, Odean Rasmussen, John Fail, Julian Gardner, Eddie Anderson, Ed. Gonzales, H. Hoganson and H. Elmore. Perry E. Seely is temporary manager, and Bob Kelly official timekeeper and scorer. No definite name has been chosen for this team yet, but it is believed it will play under the colors of the Cosmopolitan Club of the Deaf. Watch for further details.

Mrs. Frieda Greenberg has been ailing for sometime, but refused to stay put. Her many friends will be sorry to hear she is now confined to her home ill with pneumonia, under the care of an eminent specialist and a nurse. It is hoped she will soon be well again. Her home is full of flowers sent by relatives and friends, including a huge bouquet from the Los Angeles Hebrew Society of the Deaf. Recent visitors to our fair city are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Abarbanell of Chicago, who were recently married and are here on their honeymoon.

After a leave of absence of more than four months away from her hubby, Mrs. George Eccles has at last returned, bringing her two small children with her. She certainly does look the picture of health.

The Educational Deaf Society held its annual Hallowe'en Party on the 31st of October. Unlike other groups, this one celebrated the event by going to several different beaches and painting each one red. The society is composed of a group of young oral men and women, and was formed not so long ago. We expect to have more to say about their events in the near future.

A surprise birthday party party was tendered to Mrs. Thomas W. Elliott on October 24th, by Mrs. Jimmy Turner. Twelve femmes were present, and a most glorious time was had by all. Mrs. Elliott usually expresses her joy and surprise, amidst tears and laughter, and this time was no exception. She just can't help it. In her case the surprise is always so unexpected and genuine.

Miss Dorothy Mason, social director of the Cunard White Star Line, Ltd., is here on a six weeks vacation with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Willman. She is quite fluent in the sign language and is often seen at the Cosmopolitan Club Rooms enjoying a bridge game with us "deafies."

She will sail December 18th, aboard the S.S. Britannic from New York City on an 18 day cruise. The ports of call will include St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, La Guaria, Curacao, Cartagena, Cristobal, and Havana. Bon voyage!

The Sunshine Circle's Bazaar held November 6th and 7th at the Cosmopolitan Club rooms was the most successful event ever staged by this society, excepting of course its 20th anniversary celebration held earlier in the season. Mrs. Simon Himmelschein was the chairman of the event, and together with her corps of valiant assistants, she put over something that will be remembered for many and many a year.

A wedding shower was given in honor of Miss Helen Bateke by Mesdames Lenz, Chiatte, Ramsel and Fogleson on the 5th at the home of Mrs. Coffman. A like shower was also tendered Mr. and Mrs. Anton J. Axtman on the sixth. Mrs. Moulder and Mrs. Heitchusen. A mighty fine time was had by all who attended, and many nice and appropriate gifts were received by Miss. Bathke and Mr. and Mrs. Axtman.

Clarence King, foreman on one of the W. P. A. projects for the deaf, has been confined to his home with an attack of influenza. His next in command, C. H. Yarger, acted in his place as foreman. At this writing Mr. King is back on the job.

Mr. Philip Reilly, who has been working on a W. P. A. job, has secured his old position again. He is now with the Hilgartner Marble and Tile Co. as a marble polisher.

Mrs. Joe Greenberg is now almost completely recovered from her recent attack of pneumonia. She put up a great fight, and thanks to that and the attention given her by her husband, the nurse and the doctor, she will be back among her many friends in another week or so. She received a beautiful bouquet of flowers from Miss Lela Williams and Miss Gladys Jones, a pretty memento gift from Hilda Cohen, and a lovely basket of fruits from her several lady friends, delivered in person by Miss Cohen and Mesdames Klein and Goldstein.

Must have been some basket, eh what?

Rev. Clarence E. Webb recently sold his home, the location being wanted for a school building. He then bought another in the suburb of Eagle Rock. On Sunday, October 25th, after his services the members of his flock, taking along their lunches, repaired to his home for a house-warming. Rev. Webb and wife are very nicely located in a bungalow with large yard. In the back yard Rev. Webb had his "den" constructed, a cozy little place any writer would like to have; the walls lined with books, a typewriter, a desk, and fireplace. Here also are some interesting antiques, Rev. Webb brought from his old home in England, when he returned from his trip there about a year ago. After the death of an uncle, he inherited the house, which has been in his family since the time of King George II. Rev. Webb holds services for the Episcopal deaf the last Sunday of each month in the small chapel attached to St. Paul's Cathedral, at Sixth and Figueroa. His new address is 2050 Fairpark Ave., Eagle Rock, Cal.

We take pleasure in announcing that the Silent Athletic Club has at last moved to larger quarters after twice being on the verge of doing so and not doing it. The new address is 3525-27-29 Germantown Avenue, just three doors away from their old one. The old lease has been fixed to everyone's satisfaction and the club is now in the process of remodelling for the grand opening on Thanksgiving evening, November 25th.

The club, as is to be noticed, takes up the width of three houses and is a little longer than 3535. Six posts are situated around the center of the hall. When visitors come to view the room, they will probably think the posts will be in the way. Not a bit. During dancing socials these posts will have chains running from one to the other, thus marking off dancing space and prevent those who like to talk in the middle of the floor from interfering with the dancers.

Probably the best thing about the place will be a ladies' lounge room, long lacking at all the preceding club rooms. Thus the dear ladies can primp and powder to their hearts content in comfort. The men will have their own room in another section of the place.

These are just a few facts, but those who can lend their presence on the night of November 25th, can see everything for themselves. On this night turkeys and chickens and cash prizes will be offered to the public, if he or she is able to win them. Oh yes, Jack Stanton, who gives you a run for your money, is in charge.

Two more members are up for the Bandaged Hand Union, Local 63/4. Those two are the Messrs. Harry Gurwitz and Stanley Poustus. On asking Harry how come, he states he bit himself, so we print here he bit himself. Stanley got a bad gash that required three stitches when he tried to open a rusty window.

Mr. Jacob Bradsky is recovering from a fractured left seventh rib, the result of being hit by a motorcycle, and a bandit chaser at that, on Saturday evening, October 24th. The accident happened at Fifth and Lehigh while Jake was running to board a trolley on Lehigh Ave. The red light was against Lehigh Ave., so Jake had a perfect right to start after the car. But the motorcycle turned into Lehigh from Fifth, also a perfect right. The policeman took Jake to the Episcopal Hospital close by for treatment.

The focal point for November at All Souls' Church is the annual Thanksgiving Dinner. Turkey with lots of gravy, pie and all that! The mouth waters in prospect. And the dinner will be followed by a first rate movie. Best of all, if you come, you will help provide free dinners for the needy deaf, who otherwise will have none. Last year 20 of them were guests of the church.

Mr. George Almo, once a resident of Philadelphia, is now a student at Bexley Hall, Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio, and is a layreader in the Diocese of southern Ohio.

The present All Souls Church will be 25 years old in December, 1938. It will also mark the 50th year All Souls has been in existence. The church will prepare for it.

The church will have a Fair on December 10, 11, 12. Be sure and lend your presence on one of these days.

On All Saints' Day, Sunday, November 1, the Rev. Henry J. Pulver, commenced his fifth year as Vicar of All Souls.

St. Philips Lutheran Church of the Deaf will observe the Tenth Anniversary of the founding of the Lutheran Mission for the Deaf on Sunday afternoon, November 29th, at 3 o'clock. At this service a memorial communion set, honoring the memory of Dr. William F. Kaercher, Pastor Kaercher's father, will be dedicated. After the services refreshments will be served. All are invited. St. Philip's is at Germantown Ave. and Queen Lane, 5300 North.

P.S.D. came out of the fog she was in when New Jersey tied her two weeks ago, and fairly rode over Ridley Park Township High, 33 to 6, on Saturday, November 14th, at Mt. Airy. This is nothing to be scoffed at as R.P. is about one of the strongest teams on the Locals schedule. If there is no letdown, St. Joseph should be taken into camp on the 21st, leaving only Bridgeport High on Thanksgiving as the only barrier to a near-perfect season.

Don't forget the dance at All Souls on the night of the 21st. The Local Branch of the P.S.A.D. is running it and the proceeds from same goes to the Christmas Cheer Fund of the Home. Come and have a good time and help a worthy cause. Tickets are 35 cents.

MILWAUKEE

The Eau Claire Frat Box Social took place at the K and P Hall, Saturday, October 10th. Many deaf folks attended it. The reporter had many good handshakes there that night. Various kinds of good games were played. Mr. Hansmann of Knapp, Wis., was appointed an auctioneer that evening. The party came out a big success.

A few days later the reporter visited the Northern Wisconsin Training School in Chippewa Falls, for the feeble-minded.

During the reporter's stay in Eau Claire, he found out that many deaf are still working at the Gillette Rubber Co., and other plants, too.

A week later Rev. Flick of Chicago came to Eau Claire with a movie-machine and films. That evening many deaf folks attended the show at the church. Of course, all of us enjoyed watching the movies about Dr. Hall and his teachers at Gallaudet College, Eau Claire deaf people, and other subjects. Refreshments followed the show. All reported a good time. The following day Rev. Flick delivered and address about Spain to thirty-five folks in the church. Late in the afternoon Rev. Flick and the reporter left Eau Claire for their hometowns by the "400" Northwestern train. Of course, the reporter had a nice vacation there. He is expecting to go there next spring.

The first wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. L. Kolman was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Higgins recently. About thirty deaf folks attended the party there. They received nice useful gifts. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

Ray Fiedler obtained a job as a carpenter in Racine, Wis., a month ago. He helped his cousin build some cottages there. Right now it is too cold. Next spring Ray will go to work there again.

The "Farm" party sponsored by the Milwaukee Division, No. 17, took place at the Silent Club Saturday evening, October 17th. Many Frats attended it. Prizes went to the winners of the card party. Cash prizes went to the winners, who acted as real and comic farmers. All reported a good time there that night.

Mr. Leo Elmer of Monticello, Wis., was united in marriage to Miss Linda Prill here Saturday afternoon, November 14th. They will make their home in Monticello.

A dance sponsored by the Milwaukee League of the Hard of Hearing took place at the Eagles' Club Saturday evening, October 24th. Many deaf and hard hearing folks attended it. All reported a swell time there.

Mr. George Gordon of Chicago dropped into Milwaukee and visited their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rosenthal, on Saturday afternoon, October 24th. He returned home the following day.

Sam Lewis, the brother of the reporter, is attending his second year at Lincoln High School this year. When he will be graduated from that school the following year, he will think whether he will attend Gallaudet College or Marquette University here. Right now there are two deaf students at Marquette University and they are doing very well with their studies.

Recently a salesman happened to drop into the home of Mr. Emil Rosenfield here. He told Emil that he had traveled through many states and was surprised to find Emil the only deaf furrier in this country. Emil is doing well with his own business of fur cutting.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Maertz visited Mr. and Mrs. A. Spender in Hartford, Wisconsin, Sunday, October 25th. Mr. Spender, who is a deaf barber in Hartford, is doing well with his own business, barbecing for many years.

The Hallowe'en party took place at the Silent Club Saturday night, October 31st. Many deaf folks attended it. Various kinds of games were played. They reported a good time there.

A surprise birthday party for Mrs. Ray Fielder was held at the home of her father Wednesday evening, October 28th.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Yolles will be on their way to visit the latter's relatives in Pennsylvania in a few weeks.

A shower for Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arnold of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Maertz, Sunday, November 1st.

Walter Jascor of Withee, Wis., motored to surprise his wife in Delavan lately. They came here Saturday evening, October 24th.

RACINE

Robert Schneider of Milwaukee was a guest of Alfred Maertz lately. Harold Jorgenson took them for a ride in his coupe to Delavan on that day.

The Pleasure Club had a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harter a month ago. The new officers elected are: Frank Harter, reelected president; Alfred Maertz, secretary-treasurer; Alfred Cashman, trustee; Mrs. A. Cashman, entertainment. A card party followed the meeting. Several guests from Kenosha were present for the first time since the depression. Mrs. Harter and Mrs. Redmond served a delicious lunch. All reported a good time.

Mrs. Walter Redmond of Berkeley, Cal., who spent several weeks in Racine, left the city October 13th. She made a one day stop-over to visit with her aunt. Now she is on the way back home by way of Los Angeles. She enjoyed the renewal of friendships in Racine very much.

Alfred Maertz and Ray Fielder are working for a contractor erecting several small 5-room homes on an addition, four miles out of the city. They enjoy the carpentry work a great deal.

Rev. Flick of Chicago opened the mission season here by officiating at the services at St. Luke's Church, October 11th. His interesting talk was about hatred between two groups of people causing war. The conflict in Spain is an example.

George Lord is busy at the Nash Motors, turning out 1937 cars. He sometimes rides his bicycle to the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Miller to help them with the finishing touches on their new home.

Eleanor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Meredith, had a long bicycle ride October 18th. She and three friends pedaled to Kenosha and return. They were very tired in the evening, but enjoyed the sights of Kenosha.

Mr. Arthur Leisman, Mrs. Coulthard, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Angove and their son motored from Milwaukee to attend the services by Rev. Flick at St. Luke's Church in Racine, October 11th. Motion pictures were taken of the group on the grounds of the church after the services.

GREEN BAY

We have heard that Rev. P. G. Gamache will be the first Norbertine priest to be sent to Jubbelpoort, India. He is to be sent by the Rev. Abbot Penning of St. Norbert College, De Pere, Wis. Rev. Gamache was formerly priest to the deaf of this district.

Recently a stork shower was given for Mrs. Theo. Chekowski at the home of Mrs. P. Bengard. Mrs. Chekowski received many nice gifts.

Seventy-six year-old William Buchman is still spry. He climbed the tallest hickory tree and shook down some nuts. The children of Mr. and Mrs. G. Bristol picked up the nuts.

Recently the Bristol family took Mr. and Mrs. Wengard to Cleveland, Wis., just south of Manitowoc, Wis., where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Wolter. Mr. and Mrs. Wolter were celebrating their birthdays. Later in the day several other deaf people came and every one had an enjoyable time.

Mrs. Gordon Bristol gave a birthday party in honor of her sister, Mrs. P. Bengard, lately. The afternoon and evening were spent playing cards. High scorers were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sasse, Miss Esther Burkell and Mr. Victor Smith. Some of the men folks watched the Packers-Boston football game.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wahowiak of Gladstone, Mich., and Ralph Martell of Escanaba, Mich., accompanied Dorothy Kay of Marinette, Wis., on a visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Brunette and the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Bengard.

DELAVAN

Mr. F. J. Neesam will start his thirty-first year to coach the Wisconsin School for the Deaf basket-ball team at the end of this month. The names of players and the reports of games will be announced later.

Bros. Charles and Adron Henry and Mrs. C. Henry have been regular attendants at gatherings of the deaf in Delavan. Only illness or severe weather conditions bars them from coming in from their farm at Fontana, Wis. They Henry brothers number among the oldest living grads of W. S. D. Charles has been a regular subscriber to the Wisconsin Times since it was established in 1878.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Phillips were guests of honor at a dinner given by their friends on Sunday, October 18th. The occasion was their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. In answer to inquiries the celebrants stated that the quarter century had passed swiftly, and it seemed as if it were only yesterday that they walked to the altar.

Marvin Goff is busy tending his new mustache and beard. He is inquiring about prices for permanent waves; and when his hirsute adornment has attained the proper length will have it fixed up in great style. The real reason he is growing it is to keep his chin warm while he goes up North this fall for deer hunting.

SEATTLE

The three young men, Messrs. Abrahamson, Spencer and Kirschbaum industriously worked for the success of the Hallowe'en party, held under auspices of the N. F. S. D. at Moose Hall, Saturday night, October 31st, which drew about 100 in attendance. Quite a number came from Tacoma, Everett and other points. Though in the form of a hard time social, few wore costumes and Mrs. Arthur Martin with half man and half woman apparel, including hair, mask and shoes, was voted the best. Games and dancing took up the evening till eleven o'clock when the same committee, assisted by Mr. Tabb, served refreshments. They deserve high praise. Prize winners in games were Mrs. John Hood, Mrs. A. Martin, Walter Litchenberg of Tacoma, and Mrs. Nils Boesen of Tacoma. For dancing, Mrs. A. Martin, Holger Jensen of Olympia; Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Garrison and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Oliver of Everett.

The famous and enjoyable combined talk by John Gerson of Kent, and George Durant of Long Branch, caused much laughter among the audience. Probably this will be their last entertainment, because Mr. and Mrs. Durant are moving to Haywood, Cal., this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Hussey Cookson had a Hallowe'en party at their new home October 30th. Mrs. Victoria Smith, Mrs. P. Gustin, Mrs. E. Ziegler, Mrs. McConnell and the Cookson relatives and a few friends were the guests and the evening passed pleasantly.

Miss Anna Kingdon's home was invaded by her numerous friends some time last week for her birthday. After serving refreshments she received lovely and useful gifts.

Recently Mrs. Editha Ziegler and daughter, Yvonne, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wright to visit Mr. and Mrs. Claire Reeves for a couple of hours. Their 300 pullets furnish over fifteen dozen eggs daily. Their basement is full of canned fruit and vegetables, prepared in a pressure cooker, which Mrs. Reeves' thought is the best method of canning.

William LaMotte, who has been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Reeves the past couple of months, appeared stouter, healthy and contented. He can still see some distance away with his afflicted eyes.

A. K. Waugh returned from Oregon in time for the N. F. S. D. Hallowe'en social, saying the apple harvest, where he assisted his brother, was profitable. They gathered 4,000 boxes of fancy and 2,000 culls from a 15-acre tract.

Mrs. Sophia Brinkman is usually fortunate in winning prizes at public whist. A few days ago she won the ten-dollar prize.

Clarence Thoms had three mishaps in October that forced him to stay in the Ballard General Hospital for four days with an injured foot. A few days later he cut his hand badly on a broken fruit-jar, he opened with a great force.

Wilbert Lanctot spent a few days as a patient at Maynard Hospital with an infected foot. The youngster is home convalescing, but the silent bowlers miss him at their weekly sport.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Pierson of Lowell, were the guests of their married daughter in Seattle all week. They showed up at the Hallowe'en party at Moose Hall.

Mrs. Meyer of Wisconsin, is visiting her niece, Mrs. Jahnke, a daughter of Mrs. Linnie Hagerty, in Seattle. Mrs. Hagerty lived in Seattle for three years before she returned to her daughter in Wisconsin. Mrs. Meyer starts back home, November 11th.

Jane Partridge's Hallowe'en party at her home with a dozen young friends, was well planned and enjoyed. Her mother, Mrs. J. Partridge, acted as chaperone.

On Mrs. A. H. Koberstein's invitation a few friends enjoyed a game of cards at her four-room home like apartment, last night. The N. F. S. D. business meeting closed early so the little party increased in number and 500 was played, with True Partridge winning a can of Alaska Red Salmon for highest score. The guests chatted till 1:30 o'clock A.M.

President N. C. Garrison of the W. S. A. D., has appointed A. W. Wright with Prof. W. S. Hunter of Vancouver, Wash., on the auto committee. Mr. Garrison told of the tragic death in Montana of Mr. Kemp's son. He was rounding a curve in the mountains when the lights of his car went out. The machine went over the embankment and the young man met his death. Mr. Kemp is a printing instructor at the Montana School for the Deaf. All of the friends extend sympathy to the bereaved family.

Canadian News

News items for this column, and subscriptions, may be sent to Mrs. A. M. Adam, 5 Fairholme Road N., Hamilton, Ont., Canada.

HAMILTON

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Harris motored to Milton on Saturday afternoon, November 7th, taking Mr. and Mrs. Gleadow along with them. They secured a supply of fine apples from Mr. Hartley (Miss Clara Hartley's father). They had a lovely day for the drive, though they found it a bit chilly out on the highway.

Mr. Rees, Mrs. Breen's brother, who has been staying with her for some time, has gone to Toronto, where he hopes that the War Veterans Association may assist him in obtaining employment.

Mr. Yeager, formerly of Windsor, took charge of the service in Centenary Church on 1st of November and gave a good and interesting sermon.

It looks as though Mr. Yeager is going to be an acquisition to Hamilton.

The Social Club will hold the first meeting of the season at the Pythian Hall on Saturday, November 28th. The meeting will be mostly a business one for the election of chairman and committee.

Mr. Carl Harris has intimated that he will resign as chairman, a position which he has filled very adequately. He thinks some of the younger men should have a chance to show what they can do.

The sewing club met at the home of Mrs. Johnston, recently elected president of the club, and spent a delightful evening and enjoyed the delicious refreshments, served. No lady who wants to reduce should go to Mrs. Johnston's as the cakes she makes are so tempting that one is inclined to overeat!

Miss Peggy Gleadow got a call to Geller's store recently and hopes to get work there on Saturdays and during the holidays. Peggy has an attractive personality, and is always popular wherever she goes.

Mr. Salmon, who has been sick for some time, is now reported to be somewhat better. Mr. and Mrs. Salmon are now living with the former's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hacking have returned to Burlington St. and with their three small children, are now living with Mr. Hacking's mother.

Mr. Hacking has not had very steady work for some time.

Word has been received that Miss Pola Prus, of Kitchener, has secured a good position as repairer and fitter at the Kaufman fur store and is well pleased with her job.

WINNIPEG

On October 31st a surprise welcome party was given for Miss Lucy Buchan at the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. McDonald, where Miss Buchan is boarding. A delightful evening was spent in playing bridge, etc. Many of the deaf of Winnipeg are bridge experts. The serving of delicious refreshments ended the evening, which was enjoyed by all present.

Miss Buchan was recently appointed as teacher in the Manitoba School for the Deaf here and likes her work very much and is getting on well.

She has been appointed on two committees and is in charge of the tableaux to be given on December 23rd when the school will have a program.

Mr. McDonald is also a teacher in the manual department of the school.

Miss Buchan likes Winnipeg, though she finds it rather a chilly place!

LONDON

Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Hall of Toronto were suddenly called to London last week, owing to the death of Mrs. Hall's father, who died at his residence, 40 Langarth St., after a lengthy illness. He was 70 years old. For forty years he was an employee of the Empire Brass Manufacturing Company. The funeral was conducted in the Hunt Funeral Home by the Rev. Toop of the Seventh Day Adventist Church. Interment was made in Woodland Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. David Sours and John Reynolds of Clinton were visitors here over the weekend of November 1st.

An enjoyable evening was spent on Saturday, October 31st, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cowan when the first social of the season was held.

Cards were played and prizes awarded. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Cowan, assisted by her daughters.

Miss Sophie Fishbein had the misfortune to be badly, though not seriously injured, when it was said she slipped and fell into the side of an automobile on Monday afternoon, October 22nd, after alighting from a bus. She was admitted to Victoria Hospital with a possible fractured ankle. Police said she was walking through a safety zone at Dundas and Richmond when an automobile driven by a farmer was passing. She says she is lucky to be alive.

Richard Pincombe, who met with a serious car accident on the day of his 50th wedding anniversary, was home a week ago. His condition is fair.

Messrs. Henderson and McMillan of Sarnia attended the Cowan social.

Mr. Wm. Watt of Toronto conducted the service at the Y. W. C. A., St. Thomas on Sunday, October 25th.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Paul of St. Thomas, and Maxwell Whals of Fingal were weekend visitors on October 31st.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pepper spent Thanksgiving Day at Kitchener.

A. M. ADAM.

Florida Flashes

Finding that a job he expected to land at Fort Myers failed to materialize, Wilmer Earney, of Atlanta, Ga., returned to Tampa where he will stay indefinitely with his friend, G. W. Lane.

A surprise birthday party was staged at Tampa on Saturday, October 24th, at which a large number of deaf friends was present. The innocent man, who was honored, yet absent, was Antonio Varsida.

Miss Bessie Henderson, of Monticello, who has been visiting at the home of her sister at Winter Haven, returned home the latter part of October.

Barring incessant rains, there are three deaf men who expect to make money on their winter and spring crops, and they are Stephen Sonoyi, of Plant City, just finishing strawberry planting; O. C. Daugherty, of Ruskin, raising tomatoes; and Chrystal Cobb, of Sarasota, specializing in celery.

Among the most extensive poultry raisers in Dover is George Harneman, who has a large flock of turkeys ready to market for Thanksgiving dinner.

FORT PIERCE

To keep her family and her mother together, away from the proverbial wolf, Mrs. Robert Fosnot is employed by the WPA headquarters. Her husband, who is a boat builder, is in East Lake doing odd jobs along this line of occupation. He had steady work in Fort Pierce until the boat works went out of business, and since that time has been in East Lake. Their only daughter is attending school in Fort Pierce.

Miss Frances Wagner, since leaving school, has been living in Fort Pierce with her parents. Being a product of the oral class, she mingles with hearing friends most of the time. She lost her hearing at the age of twelve years.

The "Goodie Shop" is located prominently on the main highway, being managed by a sister of Miss Grace Griffin who assists her in the work. Through her courtesy, a service was conducted at her home on October 9th, and the entire deaf community was present.

ST. AUGUSTINE

Mrs. William H. Grow is sporting a brand new Pontiac car, the gift of her father in Colorado, whom she visited last summer.

After a desuetude of several months, Carl Holland expressed himself as amazed at the rapid development of Daytona Beach where his property is situated, when he called there to transact business matters.

An addition to the girls' dormitory at the state school for the deaf has been built and completed for occupancy, thus relieving congestion.

Glenn Stephen, subbing on the Evening Record, is reported to have secured a position in South Carolina as linotypist.

MIAMI

A Bible class of, for and by the deaf, has been organized at the White Temple on Sunday, October 11th, Mr. E. Ragner, of New York, a winter resident here, was appointed to teach the class during the month of October. Leaders are to be chosen monthly. The promoters of this organization recognize the essential value of a religious atmosphere and they encourage every factor which contribute to this end. Those attending the class will be given a wide choice of opportunities for the development of a spiritual life. The superintendent of the Florida Mission for the Deaf was present and preached on "Christian Living." He left for Lake Worth to fill an afternoon appointment.

A palatial year-round home, once the site of an unattractive structure given away for the asking, and which has been made over in an incredibly short matter of time, is occupied by no other proud possessors than Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schatzkin of New York and Minnesota, on Fourth Avenue southwest. It is of Spanish architecture and is completely furnished with 170 feet frontage. It is in a highly restricted section, and the owners already have made plans to improve and beautify their property with additional landscaping. Mr. and Mrs. Schatzkin, comparative strangers, have made themselves popular with the deaf of all walks of life. When married, Mrs. Schatzkin knew not a sign, being a most proficient lip-reader, but within several years blossomed forth as a versatile master of the sign-language. Mr. Schatzkin is a home lover and deeply absorbed in "movie" photography, yet finds time to occasionally enjoy society where "birds of a feather gather."

Miami Bible Class

Meets every Sunday 11 A.M., White Temple, corner Third Street and Second Avenue, N.E., Miami, Florida. Deaf visitors welcome.

Mrs. Isabelle Gilbert had an enjoyable party last Sunday. She received many useful gifts and a check from her son. An excellent dinner was served. After the repast Miss Bertha Gilbert presented a Japanese box to each lady guest and a self-filler lead pencil to each gent guest. Among those present were Rev. and Mrs. Braddock and daughter, Mrs. Greis and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. McLaren, Mrs. Wollman, Miss Anderson and her brother, Robert, Miss A. Kugeler, Mr. and Mrs. Fish, Mrs. Ahmes and family, Mr. and Mrs. Liebsohn, Mr. and Mrs. Hoag, Mr. and Mrs. Goldfogle and family.

There will be a bazaar at St. Ann's Church on two days, Friday and Saturday, November 20th and 21st, which offers an opportunity to stock up on jellies, etc., and to purchase Christmas gifts. A hot supper will be served on both dates from 6 to 8 o'clock. Miss Eleanor E. Sherman is the chairman of the bazaar. There will also be a card party. Your own favorite game may be played, whether it be "500," bunco or bridge, provided there are players to play it with you. You can also make up your own table of four. The charge is twenty-five cents each person and there will be prizes.

Four Gothamites and three "Quakers" were guests of Mr. Bob Coley of Mt. Airy, Pa., at his country cabin over the Hallowe'en week-end. Mr. Harold "Bunt" Haskins of Radnor, Pa., tells about the "seven wonders" of "Coleyville" as follows: Morton Rosenfield, the celebrated master of ceremonies from the floodlights of Philly's night life;—Beatrice "Bea" Goldberg of Philly, the barometer of P. Lorillard Co.;—Art alias "Abe" Kruger, the keyhole writer from the Bronx;—Eva Kruger, a worthy import from the kitchens of the Waldorf Astoria;—Bob "Boob" Coley, the foremost romantic Beau Brummel from Mt. Airy, Pa.,—Gustine Fisk Sadler of New York City and the "Lone Star State," the big reason to Bob;—Evelyn Lauster, a dashing "femme" from the other side of the river via the Brooklyn Bridge. Needless to say all had a most enjoyable time.

A surprise first year anniversary party was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Sam Marcus of Newark, N. J., by Miss Anna Sloan at her home. Mrs. Sam Marcus, nee Sophie Meyers of Brooklyn, is the first woman to be president of the Hebrew Association of the Deaf of Newark in the past ten years. The party was held on November 14th. Twenty guests attended, each bearing gifts suitable to such an occasion. A good time was had by all. Guests present were Miss Sadie Schattan, Mrs. Nettie Anders, Mrs. Ruby Berstein, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Marcus, Miss Celia Bailin and Jack Nusebaum, all of New York City, Peter Calabro, Miss Susie Crealsar, Mr. and Mrs. A. Balmuth, Morris Zimmerman, John Jandick, Jr., Arthur Neusheimer, Wm. Donnelly, Wm. Schorstein, Mr. and Mrs. Sloan, and Violet Adele Ruth Sloan, all of Newark, N. J.

Mrs. Margaret Walton, of Bucyrus, Ohio, the 90-year-old mother of Mrs. Maud Rembeck, is visiting Mrs. Rembeck. Her grandchildren and great grandson are making her visit most delightful. Mrs. Walton made the trip here entirely unaided.

The Loyalty Social Club held their meeting at the home of Miss Jessie Hicks last Sunday afternoon, with the Misses Gantt and Hicks as hostesses. After the business was finished and a delicious collation served, the members and hearing friends assembled in the parlor sitting around in a circle. Miss M. Bowser, president of the club, and Miss J. Hicks made a few remarks to Miss Gantt and to her surprised showered her with many linens, etc., for her future home, the news having leaked out that Miss Gantt has been engaged since last July and will be married very soon.

The business meeting of the Metropolitan Chapter of the Gallaudet College Alumni Association will take place on Sunday evening, November 22d, at the home of Mr. George Lynch, 712 East 237th Street, the Bronx. Election of officers for 1937 will be held, and a social will follow the meeting.

The Capital City

Marshall O. Roberts, 80, of 413 Fourth Street N. E., retired Federal employe, died Tuesday afternoon of a heart attack.

Funeral services were held at the Sardo funeral home, 412 H Street N. E., followed by burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery. Mr. Roberts, a native of Baton Rouge, La., came to Washington 62 years ago and was retired in 1926 after 44 years in the old Pension Office. Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Mary Graham Roberts; two sons, Raymond, of The Star advertising department, and Howard P. Roberts, Salt Lake City, and a sister, Mrs. Tuzetta Hawarden, Superior, Wisconsin.

On Saturday night, November 14th, the Washington Frats held a delightful Italian spaghetti supper in the picturesque Eating Room of the Northeast Masonic Temple. It was a charming atmosphere.

A big crowd turned out and enjoyed the supper, including twenty Frats and friends from Baltimore.

The charge was thirty-five cents per person. The supper was served from 5 to 8. After 8 several games were played and prizes awarded. Mr. Duncan Smoat was the general chairman of the committee, assisted by Mr. Tony Cicchino.

Election of new officers of Washington Division, Number 46, will take place at the Masonic Temple on Wednesday night, December 2d. Every Frat is requested to be present.

Mrs. Sarah Marshall, mother of Winfield Marshall, who is past 89, is still staying in a house a few miles out of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Mary Marshall is hoping to bring her back to live with her.

On account of Mrs. C. C. Quinley's health, they expect to sell their home on Orleans Place, N.E., and leave for some sunny climate, either in Florida or New Orleans. Their host of friends will miss them for they are good neighbors.

All officers of the "Lit" were re-elected last fall, except the sergeant-at-arms. They are Duncan Smoat, president; Mrs. R. Stewart, vice-president; Wallace Edington, secretary; and Miss P. Coltrane, treasurer.

MRS. C. C. COLBY.
